

PolicyWise CriticalProtect - Sample Critical Illness Policy

Document Code: PW-CI-2026-01

Synthetic-data notice: This fictional document is for RAG development, testing, demonstrations, and training only. It is not a real insurance contract.

1. Benefit

CriticalProtect pays a lump-sum benefit of INR 15,00,000 after a covered critical illness is diagnosed and policy conditions are satisfied.

2. Covered Conditions

Covered conditions in this synthetic policy include specified cancer, first heart attack of specified severity, stroke resulting in permanent symptoms, major organ transplant, and kidney failure requiring regular dialysis.

3. Waiting Period

No critical illness benefit is payable for a covered condition first diagnosed within 90 days from policy commencement.

4. Survival Period

The insured must survive for 30 days after the first confirmed diagnosis of a covered critical illness for the lump-sum benefit to become payable.

5. Cancer Definition

Only cancer meeting the specified severity definition is covered. Early-stage or excluded forms described by the policy definition do not qualify.

6. Multiple Claims

This sample policy terminates after payment of one full critical illness benefit. It does not provide repeated full benefits for multiple illnesses.

7. Exclusions

Conditions caused directly by intentional self-injury, unlawful drug use, or excluded congenital conditions are not covered.

8. Claim Evidence

The claim requires specialist medical reports, diagnostic evidence, hospital records, identity details, and other documents reasonably required to confirm the covered diagnosis.

9. Testing Note

The 90-day waiting period and 30-day survival period are intentionally different concepts and should not be confused by the RAG system.
